National Geographic Expeditions Announces New Trips for 2020

WASHINGTON, D.C.- National Geographic senior vice president of product management, Heather Heverling, has helped develop the guidelines for the magazines new expeditions.

Today, Nat Geo has announced six new places they will be taking travelers all across the world in the year 2020. Travelers will get to experience a multitude of new cultures, landscapes, and broaden their history all with the help of world-renowned travelers and experts of National Geographic for a rare excursion. From the pyramids of Egypt to kayaking the turquoise lakes of Khao Sok National Park, travelers will be experiencing it all in a new and exciting way.

The trips, starting at $4,995 a person, will be visiting 11 countries offering each traveler something in return. There will be a wide open range of nuances for each person involved in the trips. Each region comes with brand new opportunities that people do not see everyday, which makes the adventure even more exciting.

National Geographic Partners LLC (NGP), a joint venture between Disney and the National Geographic Society, is committed to bringing the world premium science, adventure and exploration. NGP combines the global National Geographic television channels (National Geographic Channel, Nat Geo WILD, Nat Geo MUNDO, Nat Geo PEOPLE) with National Geographic's media and consumer-oriented assets, including National Geographic magazines.
